

State Approves
Purchase of Land
for Parks Expansion

New York State has approved the county's purchase of nearly 1,600 acres of land for the expansion of Salmon Creek, Churchville and Oatka parks.

Deeds to the properties will now be searched by the state and agreements finalized with the owners, County Parks Director Wilbur E. Wright said. These negotiations will probably not be complete until near the end of the summer. The purchases will be made under a new purchase plan whereby the county can give the owner a check for the total cost, including the state's share. The federal government pays 25% of the total cost, the state pays 75% of the balance, and the county pays the rest.

The land purchases for SALMON CREEK PARK will involve nearly 1,100 acres in the towns of Ogden and Sweden, more than 70 parcels. The park will extend along the south side of Route 31 and be bounded on the east by Washington Street, on the west by Sweden-Walker Road and on the south by Colby Street. Cost is estimated at $800,000.

CHURCHVILLE PARK will be increased in size by about 42 acres located on the opposite side of Black Creek, at an estimated cost of $37,750.
