Rochester, N.Y. - Monroe County lawmakers are expected to approve a plan tonight to move the Monroe County Fair to Northampton Park.

Some people who live near the park have spoken out about the plan. They said the fair could permanently damage the park's character.

Organizers say those concerns are overblown.

If the plan is approved, the Friends of Northampton Park plan to file an injunction to stop the plan from moving forward.

The Monroe County legislature meets tonight at 6 o'clock at the county office building on West Main Street.
